Customer Communication

- 6.1 The FSE shall establish a customer contact and continue to maintain communication during system servicing, and upon completion of service.
- 6.2 The FSE shall verbally communicate with the customer and provide a functional status of customer's equipment upon departure. Note: if the customer has requested functional status email in lieu of or in addition to, the FSE will send an email within the same day of service.
- 6.3 If the FSE departs after hours, the FSE will leave a written note, and send an email.
- 6.4 If an issue is identified while an FSE in on-site, and will require a follow-up service call, it is the FSE's responsibility to make sure a follow-up service call is opened.

Customer Feedback

- 6.5 Customers are sent an email that directs them to click on a link and complete an online survey regarding their service call, installation, mobile installation or mobile lease experience.

Quality Operating Procedure

QOP 8.2 Customer Feedback and Complaint Handling

Effective Date:
1-23-2023 Rev. O

- 6.6 Unsatisfactory responses by the customer shall be reported as a customer complaint, and the complaint process shall be followed below.

Review of Customer Feedback

- 6.7 QA in conjunction with the Service/Logistics departments shall review the customer responses for any adverse customer feedback.
- 6.8 Should a negative response trend be recognized, the information would be reported to the applicable Regional Service Manager and Quality for follow-up.
- 6.9 Results of customer feedback shall be reported during the annual MXR Management Review.
- 6.10 Customer-specific complaint handling will follow per the Customer executed quality assurance agreements.

Initiating a Complaint

- 6.11 Any employee or contractor of MXR who believes they are the recipient of a complaint shall gather as much information as possible. If an outside party is involved or contributed to a complaint all relevant communication between those parties must be documented as objective evidence. Once information is gathered, the employee shall open a new complaint and complete the required fields with SF.

Note: If during the initial receipt of a complaint, the complainant indicates that a serious injury or death has occurred, extra diligence shall be taken to obtain AS MUCH DETAILED INFORMATION as possible regarding what occurred and how. Use the 'Who – What – When – Where and How' question principal when obtaining the information. This information, which is critical in nature, should immediately be given to both Quality Assurance and Executive V.P. of Operations for escalation purposes.

- 6.12 Once the complaint is submitted, Quality Assurance will review the complaint, and assign the complaint owner. All open complaints will be investigated prior to closure.
- 6.13 The complaint due date is ten (10) business days from the open date to ensure timely closure, customer satisfaction, and effective communication with regulatory authorities. Complaints that lack a response or an extension within the 10-business day period shall be escalated to the owner's supervisor.

Complaint Investigation and Disposition

- 6.14 Document the Complaint Investigation – The individual assigned 'Owner' is to perform an investigation of the complaint (who, what, when, where & why).
- Note: During the complaint investigation, if a customer fails to respond after repeated attempts, the complaint shall be closed.
